

Tenure-track Faculty Position in Music: Piano/Theory/Musicianship

Alderson Broaddus University seeks applications for a nine month, tenure-track faculty position in Music: Piano/Music Theory/Aural skills.

Applicant will be expected to teach a variety of courses to students earning a bachelor's degree for careers in Music Education. The primary instructional responsibilities of the successful candidate will be to teach applied piano lessons, piano classes, music theory sequence, and musicianship/aural skills sequence. The successful candidate will also demonstrate ability to accompany soloists and the University Chorale. Organ skills are desirable.

The job requirements of the position include advising music education majors, university committees as assigned, and may include other courses as per the needs of the School of Music and candidate qualification.

Rank and salary are commensurate with experience and educational qualifications.

Qualifications for position:

- Possess a minimum of a master's degree in music with emphasis in piano and music theory/aural skills; a doctorate is preferred
- Demonstrate evidence of successful teaching (college level preferred, other levels considered),
- Good communication skills
- Ability to work collegially with other higher education faculty within the School of Music and across the institution.

Submit cover letter, curriculum vitae and reference list in one PDF packet to hr@ab.edu or mail your information to:

Alderson Broaddus University
Human Resources
101 College Hill Drive
Philippi, WV 26416

Alderson Broaddus University is a health-related and professional educational institution firmly rooted in the liberal arts. Alderson Broaddus University is located in Philippi, West Virginia and is affiliated with the American Baptist Churches, USA and the West Virginia Baptist Convention. Alderson Broaddus University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from minority candidates.